

FOOT BALL. Labor Day C.M.B.A. EXCURSION TO Youngstown

Akron's First Game Will be With Youngstown Athletic Club.

Route For Bicyclists Parade Tonight.

Frank Ives Was Member of Akron Ball Team.

A. H. S. Plays Lorain High School September 23.

The foot ball season of 1899 promises to be the best in the history of the Akron association.

Manager H. H. Camp has written to the best teams in the country. He will soon announce the schedule.

It is probable that the first game will be played October 7, although a practice game with the North End Athletic club may be arranged for September 30.

Manager Camp has written for dates with the following teams: Chicago Athletic club, Detroit Athletic club, Youngstown Athletic club, Ohio State university, Case school, Kenyon college, Ohio Wesleyan university, Baldwin-Wallace college, Wittenberg college, Lenoir-Rhyne college and West Minister college. The time and team for the opening game has not been arranged. A favorable answer from the Youngstown team for the first game is expected. It will be played on Oct. 7.

Another meeting of the members of the team will be held some time next week to make final arrangements for good hard practice. The line up will then be announced. Several new candidates for this year have been secured. They are old players. Newspaper men and the immediate members of the team will be the only parties admitted on complimentary tickets.

Bicycle Parade.

The bicycle parade to be given this evening, under the auspices of the Tip Top Cycle club, as an advertisement for the races to be held at Fountain Park Saturday afternoon, will be a big affair.

It is said that not less than 600 cyclists will participate in the parade, and, as prizes are to be given for the best decorated wheels, it is quite likely that the procession will be conspicuous for its unique and brilliant appearance.

For the first best decorated wheel either lady's or gentleman's, a pair of $300 buttons will be presented to the rider; second best a pair of $150 silk suspenders will be given. Should this prize be won by a lady there is no doubt but that a more suitable prize will be substituted, although no such stipulation is made in the prize list. To the person who presents the most clownish appearance, or who arranges the funniest make-up, a cake, valued at $3, will be given.

The procession will start from Perkins park at 7 p.m., headed by the automobile cycle of the Akron Machine company, and the following route will be traveled:

Out Wooster av. to the water works, returning on the same street to Exchange; east on Exchange to Main; south on Main to South, returning on Main and continuing north to Tallmadge; west on Tallmadge to Howard; south on Howard to Main, and continuing on Main to Exchange; east on Exchange to Carroll; east on Carroll to Sumner; north on Sumner to Buchtel av.; east on Buchtel to Market; east on Market to Carroll; west on Carroll to Exchange, and continuing to the Tip Top Cycle club house.

The Races.

There are now about 40 entries in the races, and some fast riders will be here. All events against time records will be paced by a tripler, a regular pacing machine. Perhaps the most prominent feature of the races will be the tandem pursuit, in which Shipman and Dech will ride against Bankin and Wiese.

First Game.

The Akron High school team will play its first game with the Lorain High school in this city on Saturday, Sept. 23.

Cleveland's Record.

Never in the history of the great national game has Cleveland made a record that it did yesterday, when the century mark of defeats was reached, says the Plain Dealer. This is certainly a disgrace to the game in this city, but the fault all lies with just two people. Frank and Stanley Robinson. These two men, who are supposed to be working for the interest of the great game seem to have accomplished just the other thing. Now that the Cleveland club has lost 100 games, they still have an opportunity to beat out the record made by O'Neill's Pittsburgh club of 1890, when the Pirates lost 114 games. That the Cleveland

COL. HAWKINS RESTS.

Warrior's Remains Placed In the Tomb.

THE FUNERAL EXERCISES TODAY.

Simple Services on the Campus of Washington and Jefferson College—Chaplain Hunter Spoke—Troops Acted as Escort. Tenth Regiment Attended.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 1.—The body of Colonel Alexander Leroy Hawkins was laid in its last earthly resting place today after simple ceremonies.

The town was profusely decorated in honor of the Tenth boys' homecoming and crepe had been added to the decorations in many places. At the cemetery entrance the two large pillars were wrapped with wreaths of red, white and blue, draped with crepe, and about the vault where the body laid flags waved in the breeze. Day and night a guard of soldiers had been on duty at the vault, and were kept there until this morning.

Special trains brought great crowds to the city. A troop train brought the troops from Pittsburgh that acted as escort, the escort being composed of a battalion from the Eighteenth, three companies of the Fourteenth regiments and Company C, unassigned, of Washington, in command of Colonel W. W. Glenn. The Second Brigade band rendered the music.

The body was brought to the campus of Washington and Jefferson college, where the ceremonies were held, and placed in front of the speakers' stand. The opening prayer was made by Rev. Dr. T. N. Boyle, chaplain of Ascension church, No. 30 of Pittsburgh. At the special request of Mrs. Hawkins, Rev. Joseph Hunter, chaplain of the Tenth regiment, preached the funeral sermon and Rev. Dr. Temple of the First United Presbyterian church, Washington, Pa., pronounced the benediction.

The honorary pallbearers were Colonel Smith, Colonel Krebs, Brit Hart, James S. Stocking, M. L. A. McCracken, Major S. L. Wilson, Judge McIlvaine and Sheldon Hayes.

At the close of these exercises the remains were escorted to the cemetery by the funeral escort. Immediately behind the casket came the relatives and specially invited friends. These were followed by the military orders, including the Dr. May commandery of Washington county; Templeton post, G. A. R.; Hawkins' camp, Sons of Veterans; former members of Colonel Hawkins' command; Beville Masonic lodge, of which Colonel Hawkins was a member; representatives of the Pittsburgh Knights Templar; Post 120, G. A. R.; Camp 316, Sons of Veterans; about 100 members of the Fittler-Kenney cavalry. The members of the Tenth regiment, under Lieutenant Colonel Barnett, attended in a body. In addition to these Governor Stone and staff and a number of other military officers participated in the ceremonies.

Tenth Men Entertained.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 1.—Major Edward Bierer, George W. Neff, Captain Daniel M. Bierer, Lieutenant Robert M. Wood and a number of privates were entertained by the lodge of Elks, Major Neff, Major Bierer, and his brother, Captain Dan Bierer, related stories connected with the Philippines. Judge E. H. Reppert, R. H. Lindsey, Lieutenant Robert M. Wood, District Attorney George W. Neff, and others also spoke, along with Dr. J. B. Ewing and J. K. Ewing, Jr.

REMEMBERED THEIR DEAD.

President and Mrs. McKinley Placed Flowers on Graves—Congratulations on Pittsburgh Speech.

CANTON, O., Sept. 1.—The president, with Mrs. McKinley, her sister and niece, drove to Westlaw county, where he visited the graves of the family, covering them with flowers. Many letters and telegrams awaited him here, congratulating him on his Pittsburgh address.

There were several county society meetings in progress here and delegates were among the callers at the house. The president went to a pure food show at the Tabernacle for a few minutes in response to an urgent invitation from the Episcopal church, which is managing the entertainment. Mrs. McKinley also patronized the pure food show by liberally responding to a request for flowers from the White House conservatory.

President McKinley was accompanied by Secretary Cortelyou and others. The size of the crowd had almost blocked the show when he arrived, and someone proposed that he go through a rear entrance opening upon the stage, from where the view was comparatively clear, but this he declined to do, saying he would attend just as other people did. Guards made a way and the party passed up and down the aisles, inspecting and admiring the displays.

There was vociferous cheering by the crowd as he entered, which was drowned out by the playing of "Hail to the Chief" by a brass band.

TO HONOR NEGRO HEROES.

Some Doing Gallant Service In Cuba to Be Given Commissions.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Adjutant General Corbin said that there were less than 100 appointments of volunteer officers yet to be made, and they belonged mainly to the states of Wisconsin, California and Ohio. All the field commissions in the volunteer establishment have been distributed with the exception of one lieutenant colonelcy and ten majorcies. The governors of the states which contributed colored troops to the volunteer army in the war with Spain have been requested by the secretary of war to nominate company officers for the colored volunteer regiments. Colonel William F. Dwyer of the Twenty-sixth infantry most probably will have command. The other regimental officers will be secured from the regular service, and they belonged to the service in the battles of El Caney and San Juan Hill in the Santiago campaign.

PRESIDENT FIGUEROA RESIGNED.

Reported He Did So In the Interest of His Wife.

SAN DOMINGO, Sept. 1.—President Figueroa has resigned. The ministers will continue at the head of their various departments until a provisional government has been formed, after which the elections for president and vice president will take place.

At Cape Haitien, Haiti, it is said that Figueroa has resigned in favor of Jimenez.

SANTIAGO, Sept. 1.—It was reported Jimenez would leave here today.

SAVED BY HIS WIFE.

She Induced Dreyfus Not to Kill Himself.

PRISONER GAVE WAY TO TEARS.

Much Touched When Forzineti Described Sad Scenes at Prison—Generals May Intend to Change Their Tactics. Alleged Confession Denied by Dreyfus.

RENNES, France, Sept. 1.—Captain Dreyfus gave way to his feelings and found relief in tears, at his trial by court-martial, as Major Forzineti told the story of Dreyfus' struggle with the maddening temptation to take his life and the intervention of his wife, as an angel, pointing out the road of duty. The prisoner's breast heaved with emotion and tears trickled down his cheeks. He rose and after a forced effort to remain calm, as he spoke a few words commending his soul to Colonel Du Paty de Clam that he wrote the bordereau, he turned to Forzineti with a look of thanks for his consolation so needed. Dreyfus then uttered these words of heartfelt gratitude to his wife for the courage with which she inspired him:

"It is due to her," he cried, "that I am alive today."

During the proceedings Lieutenant Colonel Brounart asked Colonel Guerin whether M. Weil, who is a friend of Esterhazy, was a friend of Dreyfus. The latter at once rose and declared he had never before heard of Weil. The point of this question was that Esterhazy has written to Colonel Guerin, as an unnamed, and has undoubtedly mentioned Weil as a go-between for Dreyfus. If relations can be proved between Esterhazy and Weil, Esterhazy admits obtaining treacherous information from Weil, then he could assume Dreyfus was a traitor.

The generals, if sufficient evidence of a Dreyfus-Weil-Esterhazy connection can be produced, can abandon the contention that Dreyfus wrote the bordereau and admit Esterhazy is the author of it. This is possibly the change of tactics on the part of the generals hinted at recently.

RENNES, France, Sept. 1.—Captain Lebrun-Renaud testified, at the Dreyfus court-martial, that he and his squadrons were detailed to take Dreyfus to the military school Jan. 5, 1895, where the degradation was to occur.

He began to protest his innocence and to say that with convincing means at his disposal and a bright future in store for him, he could have no motive in being guilty of treason. He said:

"I am innocent. In three years my innocence will be recognized. The minister knows it well. He told Du Paty de Clam to tell me so, some days ago, in my jail. He knows that if I committed documents to Germany they were of no importance, and it was to obtain more serious and more important documents."

Captain D'Atel was present. Artillerymen and a corporal took Dreyfus to the place of degradation.

Referring to articles in the newspapers in regard to the confession, Captain Lebrun-Renaud said:

"General Mercier said to me: 'Go to the Elisee and repeat to the president of the republic what you have told me.' 'While I was in the anteroom I heard someone remark about me in very discourteous terms. M. Dapuy asked me before the president, who said: 'You have had relations with journalists and have been indiscreet. Certain articles have appeared in the newspapers.' 'I replied that perhaps journalists were among the persons I had seen, but I said I had not spoken directly to journalists. No mention was made of the confession, and I left after having received a lecture from the president. M. Dapuy took me into another room and drew up a semi-official note to the effect that I had no relations with the press.'"

A judge—Did the president know why you came to the Elisee?

Captain Lebrun-Renaud—The president was notified that I was coming. For my part, I was somewhat intimidated, which is easily explained. I heard myself described as a "traitor," "canaille" and "cur." That was not encouraging.

M. Demange asked how the witness could detect a confession in the words "I am innocent. In three years my innocence will be acknowledged."

The witness refused to say whether or not he regarded the words of Dreyfus as a confession.

M. Labori—Why did the witness keep the leaf of his pocketbook with notes of the confessions for years? The witness seems to say it was mere chance. I am surprised that the witness destroyed it just the day after it was mentioned in the chamber of deputies.

To this, Captain Lebrun-Renaud replied that at that time he considered that the document he possessed was the property of the copy made of it by M. Cavaignac the day before it was destroyed.

M. Labori—The court will draw its own conclusions.

M. Labori said he was much surprised that the witness had not referred to the abuse at the Elisee, before the court of cassation.

Asked if he had anything to say, Dreyfus declared that when he was at the military school, on the day of his degradation, Colonel Lebrun-Renaud did not leave him. As far as he could remember D'Atel was not present.

Further along, in telling of his conversation with Lebrun-Renaud, he declared that he said to him:

"I am innocent, and I will say it aloud to the whole people. The minister will know it."

"I have already explained to the court what I meant. It was the reply I had given to Colonel Du Paty de Clam when he visited me in prison, in the course of which I protested that I was innocent. I completed that declaration by a letter I wrote to the minister, declaring that I was innocent. Du Paty de Clam asked me whether I had not given any important documents in order to get more important ones in exchange for them. I replied, word for word, 'no,' but I wanted the minister to clear me up and concluded with saying, 'but before two or three years my innocence would be acknowledged.'"

The court said that in the state of nervous agitation in which I naturally found myself, I did not fully express what was on my mind.

"Allow me," continued Dreyfus, "to express the emotion and surprise I feel today, after five years, when I see a witness, who, after hearing such words, beginning with a protest of innocence, reported them to his chiefs without asking the most concerned person for an explanation of them. These are proceedings in the face of which all honest people can only express indignation." (Great sensation.)

ments were unimportant; third, that the prisoner's object was to obtain more important documents in the exchange.

Captain Lebrun-Renaud, recalled, admitted that Captain D'Atel did not speak to the prisoner, but he added that D'Atel was in the room and certainly heard the words uttered by Dreyfus.

M. Labori—What is very certain is that Captain D'Atel made no report of the incident to his chiefs.

General Mercier—No.

Lieutenant Colonel Guerin, said Dreyfus, after the degradation addressed a group of officers, saying that in three years justice would be done him. He reported this to General Sausse.

M. Demange—Was it suggested that steps be taken to verify the alleged confession?

Colonel Guerin—I do not recollect.

M. Demange—So there was no attempt to interrogate Dreyfus in regard to the alleged confession?

Colonel Guerin—The case had passed out of the hands of the military authorities, the prisoner having been handed over to the civil authorities.

One of the judges asked the witness whether M. Weil, when attached to the army headquarters, had relations with Esterhazy, to which Colonel Guerin replied that he believed M. Weil had known Esterhazy for a long time.

The judge—Do you think Weil knew the prisoner?

Colonel Guerin—I do not know.

Dreyfus here remarked that he never knew Weil.

Others who told of hearing of the alleged confession.

When called upon to reply Dreyfus declared he had never said his trial would be revised in three years. He gave the explanation he had previously given, and said there was no sinister motive in his mind such as had been attached to those words.

(Note—Dreyfus eventually referred to the general staff's suggestion that when he used the expression "three years" he knew that Esterhazy would then take his the prisoner's place.)

Major Forzineti, who was governor of the Cherche Midi prison while Dreyfus was confined there, testified that while in prison Dreyfus always seemed to have the bearing of an innocent man and always asserted his innocence. The witness added that he told General de Boissiere that he believed Dreyfus was innocent.

Continuing Major Forzineti said he was intimate with Captain Lebrun-Renaud and Captain D'Atel and neither of them ever mentioned to him the alleged confession of Dreyfus.

The witness also recalled the despair of Dreyfus after his conviction and the regrets he expressed at not having signed. Dreyfus, the major also said, talked of committing suicide.

When Dreyfus rose to reply he admitted that after his degradation he intended to commit suicide, but he added that if he succeeded in securing his torture inflicted it was owing to his wife, who made him understand his duty. (Commotion.)

Major Forzineti corroborated this. He said Dreyfus' statement was quite correct.

Captain Lebrun-Renaud, recalled by Colonel Jonast, said he did not tell Major Forzineti of Dreyfus' confession because General Ribsburg, his commanding officer, had told him to hold his tongue.

General de Boissiere also asserted that there were inaccuracies in Major Forzineti's evidence. The general said that the major over declared to him that he believed Dreyfus was innocent.

Replying to M. Demange, Major Forzineti said he adhered to all the evidence he had given before the court of cassation.

AN IMPERIALISM ROW.

Incipient Riot at a Lecture In Cincinnati.

MEN TRIED TO STRIKE HALSTEAD.

Anti-imperialists Called Traitors For Wishing the American Army Routed and Captured—Men There Who Would Have Fought For Halstead.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 1.—Editor Murt Halstead lectured by invitation, before the Economic club, in this city. The audience was miscellaneous, in addition to the members of the club, which is largely anti-imperialistic. Mr. Halstead's subject was the Philippines.

After the lecture, according to the rules of the club, Mr. Halstead was pined with questions. One of the questioners with decided sympathy for Aguinaldo after his question had been answered, added the remark: "I hope Otis will be kept in and will keep on blundering till he and the whole army are driven into the sea or captured." Mr. Halstead said: "A man with those sentiments is a traitor to his country."

Several men jumped up and remarked: "Two thirds of this audience thinks that way."

Mr. Halstead replied:

"Whoever thinks that way is a traitor."

There was a rush down the hall which disclosed the fact that the audience was composed of men on both sides of that question. Mr. Halstead was quickly led out of the church by a side door and taken home. No blows were struck, but chairs and seats were upset and there were loud threats and great uproar.

LADIES WANT TO PARADE.

Mrs. Giddings Proposed to Take Her Command to New York.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Mrs. Alexander Giddings of Cleveland has written to the Dewey reception executive committee as commander of the "White escort" of Cleveland, asking for a place in the line during the parade. She described her command as consisting of 250 young ladies all dressed in pure white and carrying bright silk flags.

The letter was forwarded to General Roe, who has charge of the makeup of the land parade.

A General Roe said the other day that only military organizations would have a place in the line.
